Manual Training School Five Goes Down to Defeat Before Visitors 22 to 17-Stanley Stars at Shooting-Norwich team Leaders at All Points of the Game.

The Laurel Hills defeated the New London Manual Training school team to London Manual Training school team to London, in a fast and close contest, in which the Norwich boys displayed a slight superiority, leading all the way. Stanley and Coyl each scored four stanley and Coyl each score four gals from the floor, the former making several grand stand shots. Bellengar, although able to score but one goal, played an excellent defensive game. Revell and Robinson also played in good form and the team work was excellent. The game was hard fought from start to finish. The lineup and summary:

Laurel Hills defeated the New Ledge of hockey sums up the story of the game, The playing of Baker was, as usual, the feature, but he was not alone in the Hall of Fame, Dean, who played goal for Cornell, saved his team from being swamped under a much heavier score. Time and again he made stops that seemed almost impossible.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

PRICES RULE HEAVY. Only Few Favorites Make Advance in an Uncertain Market.

only Few Favorites Make Advance in an Uncertain Market.

New York, Jan. 12.—The half day session yesterday closed the week of indifferent business on the New York stock exchange. Professional trading resulted in a pressure which carried some stocks down, but as usual in a market of a nature such as the one that has been recorded from day to day for some time there were favorites selected for marking up prices, and a few advances were recorded at the close. Prices yesterday as a whole were heavy and the buying vitality was very low. The copper stocks particularly were conspicuous in the decline and industrials sold off easily, while ralls seemed to possess greater resistance than other classes.

In a period like the present it was not to be supposed that any remarkable strength would be developed at the closing of a week so irregular as last week. No encouragement was offered by developments, either at home or abroad, and the natural law of self preservation caused traders to close out their commitments rather than carry them over, when Monday will be a day of importance should the Minnesota rate case decision be handed down. Speculatively, this decision will offer opportunities for both sides, according to the ruling by the supreme court. Also the uncertainty caused by the reported attitude of the incoming political leaders at Albany toward stock market affairs was not helpful to a spirited buil market, and the news from abroad offered little hepe for the near future in the line of eptimistic speculation.

It was not strange that during the general heart the market should have

The interlocuter, Frederick Fuller Manning, with the aid of the end men. Seymour Quinley, Hermon J. Gibbs, Everett Fielding and Henry Brown, kept up to date jokes going every minute between the songs. Seymour Quinley in fine voice sang I'il Put Mine Against Yours Any Time, assisted by the chorus. Hermon J. Gibbs was well received in Somebody Else is Getting It, and Everett Fielding's song, At the Gate of the Palace of Dreams, made a big hit. Henry Brown won much applause in his song, Strike Up a Two-Step Tune, with chorus. The two-step introduced during the chorus was very clever. Fred Brown sang A Rag Time Soldier, which was well received, and Clement Bushnell sang Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Old in good voice, Judging from the applause, the next number, C. Weods in his Rap, Rap, Rap with chorus made a decided hit, and was followed by Seymour Quinley in Let's Ferget We Ever Mat, in excellent voice, The closing number was a medley by the cherus, We'll Call All Hands Up On Deck, which was sung with fine harmeny.

The members of the chorus were Clement Bushnell, John Preotor, Jasen Kingsley. Fred Brown, Myron Ladd, August Beckman, Patrick Laughlin, J. Edmund Kenyon, Michael Reardon and Edward Smith.
